Rejoice Light Facial Day Cream

“Treasured Antipodes® moisturizer a stand-out in scientific study”

Rejoice Light Facial Day Cream scientifically shown to help counter signs of early ageing

Antipodes'® much-loved Rejoice Light Facial Day Cream has been shown by recent scientific studies to not only richly hydrate and pamper skin, but also potentially address the signs of early ageing by boosting collagen production.

This fully certified organic skin cream, created in New Zealand from nature's best ingredients, is already one of beauty brand Antipodes® premier sellers. Now, scientific studies show this premium moisturiser has an active anti-ageing component responsible for stimulating the creation of Type I collagen cells by up to 59%, potentially making for skin that is tangibly smoother, softer and less prone to blemishes.

Rejoice Light Facial Day Cream combines antibacterial manuka flower essence with organic avocado oil that is packed with Omeegas 3 and 9 plus many skin-vital antioxidants and vitamins. Macadamia and jojoba are added to increase the nourishing cream's hydration powers, while soft fragrances of sweet almond and vanilla pod linger long after application. Suitable for both oily and normal skin, Rejoice Light Facial Day Cream is designed for year-round use to help counter the harsh, dehydrating energy of the summer sun, and the drying, chapping effects of winter's cold.

It is certified organic by AsureQuality, the leading provider of food safety and bio-security services in the Southern Hemisphere, which upholds the strictest worldwide organic standards as set by the International Federation of Organic Agriculture Movements (IFOAM).

Scientifically validated organic beauty brand Antipodes® is currently sold in seven countries as well as 190 stores throughout New Zealand.
